Prosecution in Sulzer's Trial Rests its Case

asking Harris and Fuller, New York brokers, to close the governor's accounts to Lieutenant Commander J. M. Josephthal. It was signed "William Sulzer for Mrs. Sulzer." Melville B. Fuller, testifying yesterday regarding this account, said that it represented a loan made to the governor, who had said the money went to pay obligations incurred by Mrs. Sulzer at the Carnegie Trust Company of New York, now defunct.

The "credit entry" made in the governor's Harris & Fuller account, dated December 30, 1912, the day before his inauguration, also was in dispute. Counsel for the board of impeachment managers intimated that the entry was made later than this date.

At the opening of the morning session Melville B. Fuller of the brokerage firm of Harris & Fuller was granted permission to make a personal statement to the court.

Mr. Fuller read from a prepared copy. He first referred to headlines in various evening papers referring to his testimony yesterday.

He said that he and his firm had been misrepresented.

"I have concealed nothing," the witness declared. "I testified frankly and freely before the Frawley committee, although I understood—" at this point Attorney Stanchfield interrupted, claiming that comment on the Frawley committee, "exceeded the province of a personal statement."

Don't You Want a Roommate?

Have you often thought how pleasant it would be to have a congenial roommate who likes the things you like, whose interests are yours—someone with whom you could talk over the happenings of the day, someone whose company you would enjoy? If you would like such a roommate, one who will cut the cost of your room in half, let our Want Ads find him—the cost is trifling. Your little message will almost surely tempt out just the agreeable, pleasant kind of a roommate you want.

of the governor's counsel, "he claims not only to have been misrepresented in the papers but also that there were innuendoes from counsel on the other side that reflected upon him and upon his firm."

Judge Cullen told the witness to confine himself to a personal statement.

"The books of my firm are absolutely correct," Mr. Fuller then said. "No balances were forced. No items were omitted or concealed in them to protect Sulzer or anyone else."

SECRETARY REWARDED.
The managers essayed to show how and why Gov. Sulzer rewarded his campaign secretary, Louis A. Sarecky, by procuring him a $4,000 job in the state immigration service.

They evidently did not wish to call Sarecky a witness unless forced to do so, and endeavored to establish their point by reading excerpts from the proceedings of the Frawley investigating committee, before whom Sarecky repeatedly refused testimony.

Presiding Judge Cullen ruled that Mr. Stanchfield of the prosecution in reading the Sarecky testimony, must confine himself to the parts in which Sarecky refused to answer the questions concerning the campaign contributions.

John C. Birdseye, secretary of the civil service commission, testified that the commission suspended its rules at Sulzer's request in order that Sarecky might be appointed deportation agent at a salary of $4,000. This was on the ground that Sarecky was "master of five languages" and was "peculiarly equipped for the position by reason of his knowledge of the jargon of the races which largely constitute our state insane hospital population."

REFORM BILLS.
Robert C. Cumming, chief of the legislative bill drafting department for the past thirteen years, the next witness, was questioned regarding the drafting of "stock exchange reform bills" recommended by Gov. Sulzer. Among these was stock incorporation bill which was introduced but never reported from committee.

"What, if anything, did the governor say to you regarding the incorporation bill?" asked Attorney Todd for the managers.

"He simply asked me to hurry the drafting as he said he wanted it introduced as soon as possible.

The bills were drawn in accordance with the governor's request, the witness said, and were delivered to Senator Stillwell and Assemblyman Levy.

John Boyd Gray, of the New York brokerage firm of Fuller & Gray, was then examined for the assembly managers by Attorney Brackett.

The firm, he said, was composed of Arthur L. Fuller and himself.

"Do you know F. L. Colwell?"
"I do."
"Is he connected with your firm?"
"No, but we allowed him desk room in our office."
"When did you last see him?"
"Just before his disappearance, about the middle of August."

"Did you have a conversation with Colwell in October, 1912, in respect to opening a account?" asked Attorney Brackett.

"Yes. He asked me to get a quotation on 'Big Four.' I quoted it and he gave me an order to buy 100 shares. He made two payments against the stock when it was delivered, one of $1,500 and one of $1,000. They were both paid to me."

Gray said that on October 23, $500 more was paid for the stock and on October 31, the remainder, $8,500, was paid, all in currency. All but the latter amount was paid, he said by Colwell to the witness personally. The $8,500 was paid to his employee, Frederick A. Coa, who delivered the stock to Colwell.

Gray said he had made no inquiry why the payments were made in cash and had not asked where the cash came from.

Gray said that "account 500" was the only business that Colwell had ever brought in for his firm.

"Mr. Colwell gave me to understand that he didn't care to have anybody beside myself know about it," said Gray.

"Did you make any contribution to the Sulzer campaign?"
"I did. I can't remember whether it was $50 or $100."

Another 100 shares of big four was purchased by Colwell on November 4, said the witness.

"Did he tell you at that time that the account was for William Sulzer?"
"He said that it was for William Sulzer."

Gray said that on November 25, Colwell gave him a St. Louis and Southwestern bond to sell for a woman client but he could not remember her name.

On cross-examination Gray was first asked his whereabouts during the past two weeks and said he had been in the various offices of his company daily.

Counsel for the managers declared yesterday they had been looking for Gray for over ten days but had been unable to locate him.

STILL HERE

There's Work for the Palliation of Human Suffering, the Greatest Ever Known Here.

METHODS OF THE CHIEF SPECIALIST OF THE FAMOUS GERMAN-AMERICAN INSTITUTE IS TALK OF THE CITY.

Anything out of the ordinary attracts attention these days; the work of the Chief Physician of the German-American Institute, in the Thiesen Building is so out of the ordinary that it has become "town talk."

Many of those who are praising the work of the German-American Doctors do so because of work done in their own cases and the further reason there is no other way known here of regaining health that one compare with the work done at this Institute.

From the very first day of their opening in this city, their theories and their method of treatment attracted the attention of every one, sick or well. This attention and interest has spread far and wide, until now not a day passes but the sick, those suffering from so-called incurable troubles, are coming from Alabama, Georgia and Florida to consult the Chief Physician.

Many remarkable demonstrations have been made of their American-European treatment; Cases that have made the rounds of family doctors and taken all manner of medicines, those who have tried Allopathic, Homeopathic, Electric and Osteopathic treatment without benefit are now being relieved and soon cured by this famous treatment.

In speaking of this the Chief Physician said to the writer: "We never accept a case until we have made a thorough examination; we test the blood; the urine; the stomach contents; the sputum; we ascertain the exact condition of each and all of the pelvic organs; we eliminate all guess work as far as possible; you never see a patient suffering from a Chronic Trouble to whom is said only, 'Stick out your tongue; feel your pulse; yes; Billions, very bilious; you need a little calomel and some quinine.' We find out to a certainty what the trouble is; we never take a case we cannot cure without a special agreement with the patient, made in writing, black and white, so that the patient understands just every point and condition."

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO REJECT ANY CASE WHICH IN OUR OPINION IS INCURABLE.

No matter what your disease may be; no matter how many years you may have suffered, you can now be cured; at least you need no longer remain in doubt. The methods of Diagnosis used by the German-American Institute in the Thiesen Building enable you to be told just what your troubles are. Why not go and see for yourself today? You never will regret it, you may be cured now, and tomorrow may be too late.

At the first interview with the Chief Physician you will be carefully examined and if your case is incurable you will be told so, and advised against spending any money for useless treatment. The German-American Institute will cure all curable cases of Chronic Liver, Stomach, Kidney, Bladder and Lung Complaints; Deafness, Catarrh, Male and Female Weakness, Piles and Rupture. Office hours and work begin at nine in the morning and stop at eight in the evening; on Sundays from 9 until noon. (adv.)

JEWISH NEW YEAR HAS MANY GOOD FEATURES

ROSH HASHANAH AN ENJOYABLE AS WELL AS A SACRED SEASON TO THOSE WHO FOLLOW THE TEACHING OF ABRAHAM.

The Jewish people of Pensacola have entered upon the observance of the present holy season of Rosh Hashanah, or the New Year's day of the Hebrew faith, which began yesterday evening and ends with the Feast of Conclusion on the evening of October 23. This season is always an enjoyable as well as a sacred one to those who follow the teachings of Abraham. As everyone knows, the Jewish people are devoted to their families and the ties of relationship are wonderfully strong.

There are many beautiful customs belonging to this season and, famous the world over for their charity and taking care of their own people, even the poorest are bountifully cared for during this centuries-old feast. Strangers who happen to be in the city are taken into the homes and made guests for the enjoyment of all of the best things to eat, including several specially prepared dishes in honor of Rosh Hashanah.

Special services were held in Temple Beth-El at 8 o'clock last night, when Rabbi Ackerman delivered an able sermon entitled Message of the Jewish New Year. An elaborate musical program was rendered. Services will be held again this morning at 10 o'clock.

All places of business in this city conducted by Hebrews will be closed today.

Prominent among those who will observe the holiday today will be Mayor Greenhut, who will refrain from performing any of his official duties, his seat at the city hall remaining vacant today for the first time in the history of Pensacola on account of the observance of a Jewish holiday. Mayor Greenhut is one of Pensacola's leading Jewish citizens. The mayor's seat in Mobile, which is filled by Mayor Schwartz, will also be vacant today, as he, too, is a Hebrew and will observe the holiday.

MANEUL, AFTER HONEYMOON, WILL LIVE IN ENGLAND.

Ex-King Manuel and his Bride.

London, Sept. 28.—Ex-King Manuel of Portugal, who is now on a honeymoon with his bride, Princess Augustine Victoria of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, will live in England. On his return to this country he will occupy a house at Twickenham, and he is also treating for a residence near Abercon-House, Richmond, the palace of his mother, Queen Amelia.

Europe is still wondering why the immensely wealthy and highly connected princess married Manuel after all his liaisons and his debts. The chances of Manuel's ever regaining the throne of Portugal see decidedly remote.

If Manuel is no more than a pretender, his claims to a throne are at least as strong as those of the family into which he married. The Hohenzollerns of Sigmaringen claim to be the rightful rulers of Germany; but the truth is they lost all sovereignty in 1849.

TEN ARRESTS FOLLOW RIOTING AMONG MINERS

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 1.—Ten arrests were made in the Calumet copper districts today after rioting. Annie Clemens, one of the leaders of the women strike sympathizers, and Ben Goggia, a strike leader, are among those in custody. Workmen were intimidated and one deputy was badly beaten.

Considerable shooting by strikers in the Keweenaw district last night was reported here today.

Hunting parties in automobiles were fired on as they passed through that district.

STEEL TRUST DENIES ILLEGAL MONOPOLY

New York, Oct. 1.—The steel corporation marshalled experts today to refute the government's charge that it deserves dissolution as an illegal monopoly. The corporation took up the defense where it was left off when hearings were suspended last June. It maintains not only that it is not a monopoly but that a monopoly of the steel and iron trade is an impossibility.

We beg to inform our patrons that our place of business is closed today on account of Jewish Holiday.

FIRST OYSTERS OF THE SEASON REACH MARKET

OYSTER BOATS REACHED PORT YESTERDAY WITH GOOD CATCHES WHICH MET WITH READY SALES.

The first oysters of the season from Florida waters were brought to port yesterday, when a number of the oyster boats reached the city from Escambia, Choctawhatchee and other points. The oysters brought to market were large and fine ones and met with a very ready sale and at good prices.

Oystermen went out Tuesday night so as to get back to market early. The Florida law does not permit oysters taken from their beds before October 1 and yesterday's catches were therefore the first of the season.

Oysters are reported plentiful and very large, due to the protection afforded them during the past few years.

EMMETT WILSON EXPECTED HOME

WILL ARRIVE HERE BEFORE THE END OF THE WEEK AND REMAIN UNTIL THE DECEMBER SESSION.

Representative Emmett Wilson is expected home this week from Washington, where he has been throughout the extra session of congress, making only one trip to Pensacola since leaving here several months ago.

Mr. Wilson will be given a warm greeting by his large number of friends. He will remain here until the regular session of congress opens in December.
